

ABOUT THE STATE

HAPPENINGS OF INTEREST FROM DIFFERENT SECTIONS

A man with a gun who annoyed autoists in West Rutland was taken in custody by the police.

Nineteen members of the Concord district school of 55 or more years ago recently held a reunion in that town.

In the Grand Isle county baseball league Grand Isle and South Hero will play off a tie Saturday for the pennant.

Howard park in Burlington, including several hundred feet of lake front, has been sold to the Standard Oil company.

Burlington's city attorney stopped building operations on a store front because he claimed that the structure was being extended too far into the street.

Nathan Woodard, aged 72, who died recently in Fair Haven, lost his left arm while serving in the Civil war. He was a member of the 11th Vermont regiment.

L. M. Avery has resigned his position as physical director of the Bennington Young Men's Christian association to accept a similar position in Winsted, Conn.

A new $50,000 bridge is being built by the St. Johnsbury & Lake Champlain Railroad company to replace an old structure which crosses the Lamolite river at Johnson.

Miss Caroline S. Woodruff, who has been a teacher in the public schools of St. Johnsbury for several years, has been assigned to take charge of the new teacher training course in Bradford.

In Rutland for a brief stay en route to Montreal, Geraldine Farrar expressed a regret that she couldn't stay long enough for the far-famed carnival which that city is to hold.

Albert H. Austin of St. Albans, a carpenter, has filed a petition in bankruptcy with Clerk F. S. Platt of the United States court. He has liabilities of $278 and assets of $265, with $225 claimed exempt.

Claiming that he fell through an opening into an elevator shaft that was not properly guarded and that he sustained severe injuries in the fall, Thomas A. Gonyea of Rutland is suing the furniture firm of Gonyea & Remington.

Walter H. Johnson, whose death occurred in Chicago last week at the age of 80, was an old-time resident of St. Albans, having served in the office of the superintendent of motive power until he removed to Chicago 30 years ago.

Sergeant Hayden Squires of Norwich university received an injury to one of his eyes when a fellow student threw a stone in fun. Squires notified his parents in West Brattleboro and then went to Burlington to consult a specialist.

Vermont Baptist anniversaries are to be held with the first Baptist church in Burlington September 20 to 22. Henry A. Bond of Brattleboro, president of the state convention, will preside and an imposing list of speakers will include several divines from out of the state.

Nobuo Suyeimatsu, a graduate of Middlebury college in the class of 1914, has gone to Japan, where he will be an instructor of English at his alma mater. Before he came to America, Mr. Suyeimatsu gave his native province a college dormitory and a Young Men's Christian association building.

The mention of the name of Colonel Sawyer of Hyde Park as one of the only two men living who were members of the convention which nominated Abraham Lincoln for the presidency recalls to friends of the colonel a pleasant little incident which occurred in his native town many years ago. The late Dr. Edward Fisher of Toronto, Ont., whose mother died at his birth, was taken into the family of her grandfather, the late George Fisher of Newfane. At an early age he was spending several weeks in Hyde Park and as it was during the session of the legislature, an act was passed to legalize his adoption. Colonel Sawyer was a member of the legislature and upon his return to Hyde Park he planned a party for the youngsters at his uncle's home. Soon after the party convened, Colonel Sawyer entered the room and after greeting the children unfolded the "Acts of the Legislature," which he carried in his hand, and read to them the article which legalized young Edward's adoption, after which he explained to them what it meant.

FORESTRY CO-OPERATION

State Department To Work With Vermont Owners More Closely.

The Vermont forestry department plans to co-operate with the private forest owners to a greater extent than hitherto. As in previous years an expert will, upon request, supervise the marking on private lots of all trees which should be cut. Owners are expected to furnish one or two men, according to the size of the tract to be marked, and to bear the expenses of the forester while he is doing the work. He will also track the number of trees marked and the conclusion of the work will be to inform the owner of the total number to be cut. This information will be of considerable assistance to owners in enabling them to dispose of the material before cutting.

In young forests the aim of the forester will be to increase the rate of growth of the most valuable trees, while in old stands the principle object will be to secure a second crop of the best and most rapid growing varieties.

A study recently made by the forestry department on a timber tract in northern Vermont showed that the old growth spruce require an average of 10 years to increase one inch in diameter; the fir only seven and one-half years. While fir is always considered inferior to spruce it sells for about the same price. Its rapid growth makes it a profitable tree to raise if it is cut before it begins to deteriorate. The fir is shorter lived than spruce or hemlock.

How to Keep Well

$30,000 MORE RAISED.

To Be Expended on Church of Holy Innocents at Rutland.

Rutland, Sept. 1.—The building fund of the Church of the Holy Innocents in this city has reached $30,000. This is the goal at which Rev. W. N. Loneragan said he would aim when, a few years ago, the basement of the church was roofed over to be used as an auditorium until such time as sufficient money should be at hand to resume building operations. To put the present building on the ground at the corner of South Main street and Killington avenue, where it stands, cost at least $35,000. The announcement that another $30,000 is at hand was made by Father Loneragan from the pulpit last Sunday. The money was largely raised by entertainments and sales under the auspices of men and women of the church.

The present building fund is by no means enough to finish the church but at the time when the first step in the erection of the edifice was completed it was decided that further progress might be made when another sum about equal to the original expenditure was at hand.

Concerning the plans for the future Father Loneragan had the following to say to-day: "The continuation of building operations is contingent upon the decision of the authorities at Burlington, who have the matter under advisement. The disturbed condition of the country will be taken into consideration before any definite action is taken. Of course, the necessary expenses of sustaining the parish are a deterrent to building. It costs a lot of money for the upkeep of the parochial schools but we consider the money well spent. All of our graduates enter the high school without examination and the cases are very rare where a parochial school boy or girl has not made good."

"No decision has been arrived at as to what material will be used in completing the church. Although our parish is small, the people numbering only about 1400, including children, the present church is larger and more elaborate than two-thirds of the churches of Vermont and it will suffice for a long time."

In Bankruptcy Case of Vermont State Company of Poultry.

Rutland, Sept. 1.—Judge Harland B. Howe of St. Johnsbury was in this city yesterday to sit at a session of the United States district court to review the bankruptcy case of the Vermont State company of Poultry, one of the biggest which has been in the courts of this state for many years. The review is made on petition of the Slatings National Bank of Pennsylvania, one of the creditors, its purpose being to enable the court to make an order fixing the attorney fees and charges of the referee in the case, Ernest H. O'Brien of this city. It is said that the petitioners claim that they should be a cut of about two thirds in Mr. O'Brien's bill, which is for $300, including money paid out and work on the case.

There has already been much litigation in this case before the referee. He made a trip to New York in connection with the state company failure, has heard in Poultry several times and has heard a great amount of testimony relative to claims of creditors and other matters.

At the hearing before Judge Howe yesterday Silas E. Exerts of Granville, N. Y., represented the state company, Mills & Mills of Albany, N. Y., the Pennsylvania bank, B. L. Stafford of this city and C. E. Parker of Granville, the trustee, D. D. Nelson, and W. B. C. Stickney, Mr. O'Brien.

There are about 600 creditors of the Vermont State company. Their claims aggregate nearly $200,000.

NATIVE OF WATERBURY.

Gen. W. W. Henry Died in Burlington in His 84th Year.

Burlington, Sept. 1.—Gen. W. W. Henry died Monday night at his home on Wilson street in his 84th year. The funeral will be held on Thursday at 2:30 at St. Paul's church.

General Henry was born in Waterbury, Nov. 21, 1831, the eldest son of James M. and Matilda (Gale) Henry. After attending the public schools of Waterbury he was graduated in 1849 at People's academy, Morrisville. He taught school in Wolcott the next year and then went to California, where for seven years he led the life of a miner. Returning to Waterbury, he entered the drug business and at the outbreak of the Civil war sold his interest in the business and devoted himself to military service; recruiting in Company D, 2d Vermont. His service in the war was conspicuous and he returned with the rank of brigadier general.

In 1868 Gen. Henry removed to Burlington, which was henceforth his home. He served as mayor and was conspicuous in the life of the city. His last public service was as consul at Quebec. Since his return he had led a retired life.

Gen. Henry is survived by Mrs. Henry and one daughter, Mrs. F. S. Pease of this city.

HOUSE FELL INTO CELLAR.

Burlington Woman and Children Escaped Injury.

Burlington, Sept. 1.—The house of Mr. and Mrs. John Lafrance at 7 Popular street, which was having a cellar added, fell from the supports on which it had been raised, causing the main part of the house to divide from its annex yesterday.

Mrs. Lafrance and her elder child had just finished breakfast when Mrs. Lafrance felt the house awaying from one side to the other. Fearing for the safety of her younger child, which was sleeping in its crib in a bed room adjoining the kitchen, she started to get it. As she stepped from the kitchen, the floor divided and she fell to the cellar beneath. One of the men working on the house dragged her out of the debris. Neither she nor the children were injured although the room in which the baby was sleeping was completely wrecked. The kitchen was also torn up. All the dishes were destroyed and a large lamp in the parlor was shattered to bits. The chimney fell off the house and the slate on one side was completely destroyed. In almost every room furniture was upset and many articles were broken.

It seems a cellar was being put in by F. H. McCauley under the main part of the house which was raised on jacks. The building was seen to be twisting from its supports and in trying to straighten it the men pushed it into the evacuation.

SCHOOL PLANT AND RECREATION.

Former Should be Utilized for Purposes of the Public.

Men will not tolerate in a public school building a performance they might witness without protest in other places, says Clarence A. Perry, in a bulletin just issued by the United States bureau of education. For this reason Dr. Perry thinks the movement to use the school plant for social and recreational purposes is destined to purify as well as popularize amusements.

"The teaching staff and other machinery of the public schools are dedicated by the people to a betterment service," says Dr. Perry, "therefore society will not permit the building erected solely for that purpose to be put to a contrary use."

Statistics gathered by Dr. Perry from 45 leading cities in the United States show that in one month there were over $80,000 attendances upon evening functions in the public school buildings of these cities. The bulletin declares that these figures mean so many evenings spent in wholesome activity by persons many of whom would otherwise have spent that time in less beneficial or in positively harmful pastimes. "These $80,000 instances of the influence of the school in one month, whether scattered over many persons or concentrated upon a few, indicate the tremendous force for righteousness that was extended by one month's extension work in these 45 cities."

"The public character of all functions held in the school buildings has the effect of censoring those functions," asserted Dr. Perry. "The activity which is grouped heartily, publicly, and unshamefully seeks, affords the kind of expression that its members need. When youths and maidens consort in the public school building in social life we may be certain that instincts of racial importance are being cherished instead of exploited."

"Unfortunately," says Dr. Perry, "a large number of young people, in the heyday of life, are devoting their ample margins of energy to passive amusements and degenerating satisfaction. What holds these young people back from profitable pastime is lack of meeting places and leadership. Suitable meeting for a vast majority of them, change the evenings of waste and drifting into times of upbuilding and character-strengthening. The opportunity which society needs for this purpose it possesses in the vast equipment of the public school which lies idle otherwise during the period of popular leisure."

FLEETEST OF ALL DOGS.

Greyhounds Can Run as Fast as Carrier Pigeons Can Fly.

Comparatively few people realize of what remarkable speed dogs are capable. The wolf can run between fifty and sixty miles in one night, and the Arctic fox can do quite as well, if not better. Nansen met one of these foxes on the ice at a point more than seventy miles northwest of the Sanikiliev territory, which is 450 miles from the Asiatic coast. Eskimo and Siberian dogs can travel forty-five miles on the ice in five hours, and there is one case on record in which a team of Eskimo dogs traveled six and one-half miles in twenty-eight minutes.

English setters and pointers hunt at the rate of eighteen to nineteen miles an hour, and they can maintain the speed for at least two hours. Foxhounds are extraordinarily swift, as is proved by the fact that a dog of this breed once beat a thoroughbred horse, covering four miles in six and one-half minutes. Greyhounds are the swiftest of all four footed creatures, and their speed may be regarded as equal to that of carrier pigeons. English greyhounds which are carefully selected and which are used for coursing are able to cover at full gallop a space between eighteen and twenty-three yards every second. It is said that a hare at its greatest speed never goes faster than at the rate of eighteen yards a second. These interesting statistics fully prove the right of the greyhounds to rank as the swiftest of the quadrupeds.—Springfield Republican.
